

partner of choice

As the Chief of the Delaware Capitol Police, William Jopp's mission is to provide a safe environment for the state government he secures. To enhance his effectiveness with existing manpower, Chief Jopp turned to Advantech and Honeywell's leading-edge video analytics technology. Honeywell's Active Alert® gives him additional eyes around building perimeters and certain critical areas and automatic alerts to predefined events. The result? Much faster reaction time — enabling officers to quickly assess the threat and deploy the right resources to address the incident. By thinking smart about security, Chief Jopp is fulfilling his mission of ensuring that Delaware's state government is uninterrupted and its elected officials are protected.

Honeywell

For more information about Honeywell's video analytics, or to view the Capitol Police video case study, visit www.thesecuritychannel.com or call 1-800-796-2288 to speak to a Honeywell representative today.

Pictured from left to right: Eric Schaeffer, President of Advantech; William H. Jopp, Chief of Delaware Capitol Police.